

SCIENCE AT HOME

Ask your parents or carers to help you find a few different ingredients in your kitchen and to test whether they dissolve in water or not.

Examples could be sugar, salt, coffee, pepper, flour, chocolate powder, baking soda...

Make a table or chart to show which ones dissolve and which ones don't.

SCIENCE AT HOME

Ask your parents or carers to help you find a few different ingredients in your kitchen and to test whether they dissolve in water or not.

Examples could be sugar, salt, coffee, pepper, flour, chocolate powder, baking soda...

Make a table or chart to show which ones dissolve and which ones don't.

SCIENCE AT HOME

Ask your parents or carers to help you find a few different ingredients in your kitchen and to test whether they dissolve in water or not.

Examples could be sugar, salt, coffee, pepper, flour, chocolate powder, baking soda...

Make a table or chart to show which ones dissolve and which ones don't.

SCIENCE AT HOME

Ask your parents or carers to help you find a few different ingredients in your kitchen and to test whether they dissolve in water or not.

Examples could be sugar, salt, coffee, pepper, flour, chocolate powder, baking soda...

Make a table or chart to show which ones dissolve and which ones don't.

SCIENCE AT HOME

Ask your parents or carers to help you find a few different ingredients in your kitchen and to test whether they dissolve in water or not.

Examples could be sugar, salt, coffee, pepper, flour, chocolate powder, baking soda...

Make a table or chart to show which ones dissolve and which ones don't.